It is happiness that you seek.

"All you want is to be happy. All your desires, whatever they may be, are longing for happiness. Basically, you wish yourself well...desire by itself is not wrong. It is life itself, the urge to grow in knowledge and experience. It is choices you make that are wrong. To imagine that some little thing-food, sex, power, fame-will make you happy is to deceive oneself. Only something as vast and deep as your real self can make you truly and lastingly happy." ~ Sri Nisargadatta Maharaj

"Self-trust is the first secret of success."~Ralph Waldo Emerson

"The intuition of the moral sentiment is an insight of the perfection of the laws of the soul. These laws execute themselves. They are out of time, out of space, and not subject to circumstance." ~Ralph Waldo Emerson

From : Realization.org, a short biography of Sri Nisargadatta Maharaj :

<https://realization.org/p/nisargadatta/nisargadatta.html>

"From his living room in the slums of Bombay (Mumbai), this self-realized master became famous for brilliant, aphoristic, extemporized talks in which he taught an austere, minimalist Jnana Yoga based on his own experience. Many of these talks have been published in books. The earliest volume, I Am That, is widely regarded as a modern classic."

Ralph Waldo Emerson was an American Transcendentalist poet, philosopher and essayist during the 19th century. A short biography can be found here.

In his Essay " Self Reliance" Emerson writes that Self-sufficiency gives one the freedom to discover one's true self and attain true independence. Emerson's writings became the nexus of American Transcendentalism , a movement with five predominant elements : nonconformity, self-reliance, free thought, confidence, and the importance of nature
